

Soul In The Machine

Soul In The Machine is a live electronic dance band. It differs greatly from more conventional music show in three principle ways: 1) Soul In The Machine plays electronic dance music. 2) The Musicians actually play most of the music (as opposed to spinning it on a turntable.) 3) All of the instruments, with the exception of the keyboards, were custom built by the band. So is the lighting, which is as large a component of the show as the sound. Soul In The Machine strives to add greater visual stimulation to the primal aural excitement experienced by fans of electronic. It tends to exhibit unique electronic instrumentation built specifically to complement the Brave, Old World of the music synthesizer.
